

Lisa is the current President of Australian Dance Adjudicators, being elected by her peers in 2017 after spending 8 years as the Secretary of the Association. As an adjudicator Lisa has been able to witness the ever-evolving changes in dance.

A dedicated dancer and teacher, Lisa is trained in classical ballet, jazz, hip-hop and contemporary dance but her passion is with tap dancing. Her career has seen her perform on various TV shows and other live performances throughout Sydney.

As a teacher, Lisa has put numerous students through exams in all facets with outstanding results and has created routines that have placed at multiple competitions, both locally and inter-state. A highlight of her teaching career was travelling overseas with her students to perform in a charity event raising funds for local charities.

As a dancer, teacher, “dance mum” and adjudicator, Lisa is very aware of all that goes into a performance and looks forward to sharing her knowledge with all performers so that they can continue to develop in their dancing journey.
