

LEAH CASSAR

VOICE PRODUCTION

Leah Cassar has been the owner and sole operator of Leah Cassar Voice Production for the past 25 years through these years her studio has expanded in size and stature with many successes along the way.

Leah does not limit herself to one genre and believes that vocal versatility is very important. She has appeared on several television shows over the years, being a regular guest performer on Young Talent time, Potluck, New faces and the footy show. She has performed at many official functions with a highlight being the NRL Grand Final and lead singer of the NSW police band.

After studying contemporary music for most of her life, she then moved to New Zealand and studied classical singing at The Conservatorium of Music in Auckland. Leah is a member of the National Association of Singing Teachers and has a Grad. Cert. in Singing Pedagogy (UWS) Leah has completed all Contemporary Vocal Exams with the A.M.E.B and is now one of Sydney's premier vocal adjudicators.